Canada's national anthem carried loud and clear across Beacon Hill Park Sunday as citizens from all walks of life rose to sing "O Canada" — with emphasis added by their participation in "I am a

Canada Day Marked

BY AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Selection of Miss Sara Spencer for the Good Citizen's Award of the Native Sons of B.C., Post No. 1, received hearty endorsement from several hundred Victorians in Beacon Hill Park, Sunday afternoon.

The award, made by L. Westendale on behalf of the Native Sons, climaxed short, simple and effective ceremonies marking the sixth annual "I Am a Canadian" day.

Speaking from the platform of the J. O. Cameron Memorial Pavilion, Mr. Westendale referred to Miss Spencer's background as a daughter of a pioneer family, prominent in the province's cultural and business life. Many of the deeds she has done during her lifetime of service to the community and people are not generally known, he remarked.

Miss Spencer, brought to the platform by Robert Hiscocks, responded to the award with characteristic simplicity, commenting:

"After such a eulogy, I will have to look around on Monday morning and find more things to do."

The ceremonies began as the chairman, Alderman F. G. Mulliner, speakers and special guests moved off to the platform, led by a group of I.O.D.E. standard bearers, to the strains of "Land of Hope and Glory," played by the band of H.M.C.S. Naden.

The Reverend Douglas Kendall, chaplain of the Veterans' Hospital, pronounced the benediction. Dr. W. G. Black, regional liaison officer, department of immigration, presented a message from the Hon. W. E. Harris, and Alderman Mulliner welcomed the guests and the large audience.

FIRST LOYALTIES

"No man can be whole, a citizen of the world, until he has first realized and cherished the personal loyalties of home, of family, of community and of country," said Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, the principal speaker, asking that all should pause to consider "the inner well-springs of affection" that unite them to this richly endowed and lovely land of Canada.

Mr. Keate briefly discussed Confederation, the growth of the country, its position in the world of today, its inheritance from the past.

He referred to this country's absorption of new Canadians and the mutual gifts of freedom on the one hand, and heritage of historic cultures on the other.

Strike Action Taken By Victoria Painters

HOLIDAY DEATHS ALREADY HIT 42; TWO DIE IN B.C.

By The Canadian Press

Twenty-three persons died in highway accidents during the first 48 hours of Canada's four-day holiday week-end to bring the total number of fatalities to 42.

Warning pleas to be careful were issued in all provinces as citizens streamed out to holiday retreats to celebrate Dominion Day tomorrow.

A Canadian Press survey, however, showed today that 17 died in Ontario, nine in Quebec, seven in Manitoba, six in New Brunswick, two in Alberta and two in British Columbia.

The mounting toll on the highways compared with the 28 killed in the 72-hour Dominion Day holiday last year. In that period a total of 84 died violently across the country.

Al. Antony, of Vancouver, was killed Saturday when his light plane crashed into Okanagan Lake during a rainstorm in southern British Columbia.

Tony Doole, Vancouver, was killed when a jeep he was riding in smashed into a post on Kruger's Hill, four miles south of Penticton.

Three passengers in a car struck by a Canadian National Railways train early today at Elie, Man., 30 miles west of Winnipeg, were killed. They were Benoit Gerard, 22, of Elie; Cecile Rivard, 18, and Bruno Chabot, 21, both of St. Eustache, Man.

Latest Walkout Adds 200 To List of Unemployed

Victoria painters went on strike today.

At a meeting Sunday of the general membership of the Painters' Union (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) it was decided to tie up the trade here through strike action.

About 200 men are affected by the walkout.

A few painters are still working for contractors who signed up with the union, according to Don Bushell, painters' business agent.

The 13-day strike of Victoria carpenters threw a good many of the city's painters out of work, but most of the 80 still working on Friday are now helping man picket lines.

In this move the painters followed the example of 900 Vancouver painters, who have been out on strike for two weeks.

The strike followed months of negotiation between painters and Victoria Builders' Exchange and independent contractors.

2,200 UNEMPLOYED

The new strike brings the total of city workers actively on strike to 2,200, including 1,500 loggers and millworkers of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and 500 carpenters.

Many other building tradesmen also are jobless because of picket lines operated by striking unions.

NO L.W.A. BREAK

No break appeared during the week-end in strikes which have tied up lumbering and construction in west coast area.

Striking woodworkers tightened patrols on docks at New Westminster where it was reported "hot" lumber was being loaded. The picketers will prevent the loading of any lumber aboard ships which were not on barges alongside the ships when the strike broke out.

International Woodworkers of America leaders said that New

Four Victoria Navy Officers Win Promotion

The promotion of 26 senior officers, including four Victorians, to captain, was announced by Defense Minister Brooke Claxton today in the navy's half-yearly promotion list, released here.

The list included the names of Commander James Plomer, of Winnipeg and Victoria, and Commander Dudley G. King, of Victoria, both veterans of the Korean War. They were promoted to the rank of captain.

Also promoted to captain were Commander Howard L. Quinn, of Victoria executive officer of H.M.C.S. Magnificent; Commander Paul D. Taylor, Victoria, assistant naval attaché in Washington, and Commanders Archibald G. Hodge and Rowland W. Tyner of Montreal.

Capt. King is commanding officer at present of H.M.C.S. Athabaskan and Capt. Plomer is commanding officer designate of H.M.C.S. Cornwallis.

The acting rank of captain went to Commander Richard R. Teasdale, of Ottawa, and Commander Charles M. O'Leary, of Halifax.

Fourteen men were promoted to the rank of commander. They were: Lieutenant Commanders John R. Doull, Victoria; Philip S. Booth, Vancouver; William S. T. McCully, Kingston; Patrick C. Benson, Winnipeg and Victoria; Arthur D. McPhee, Vancouver; Edgar S. Macleod, Saskatoon; Robert W. Timbrell, West Vancouver; Raiffe D. Barrett, Victoria; John C. Chauvin, Montreal; Arthur C. Bridgman, Victoria; John B. Hall, Victoria; John A. M. Lynch, Penticton; Surgeon James C. Gray, of Victoria; Surgeon E. A. Sellars, Toronto, and Surgeon C. M. Harlow, Halifax.

Acting rank of commander went to Lieutenant Commanders Daniel F. Clark and A. G. Freeman, of Esquimalt.

Union Held Responsible For Damages

TORONTO, June 30 (BUP) —

Labor leaders today studied an unprecedented ruling by an arbitration board which held a union responsible for strike losses to a company.

The tribunal ordered the United Electrical Workers (Ind.) to pay $9,208 damages to the Canadian General Electric Company.

The award, not a punitive one, was the first in Canadian labor history.

The damages were awarded Saturday when the board found the union was guilty of a breach of contract in failing to maintain discipline in the plant and ensuring continued production under the terms of the agreement.

The majority opinion was that while the union did not actively inspire a series of walkouts at the G.E. plants here in September, 1949, it did nothing to disown it, and failed to take immediate steps to get the men back to work.

C. S. Jackson, the U.E.'s Canadian director, said the union would fight the issue "right through whatever course is open to us." He did not, however, indicate what course this might be as an arbitration board's award is final and binding in Ontario.

Police Probe Drug Use by B.C. Juveniles

VANCOUVER, June 30 (CP) — R.C.M.P. and city police today joined forces in a drive to halt use of narcotics by teenagers here, some of them still in high school.

Nearly a score of boys and girls are under investigation as investigators probed deep into a high school narcotics ring.

Police have found that young girls have been taking narcotics "just for the kick." Most of them got their drugs from underworld peddlers, paying $5 to $6 for a "fix."

Record Holiday Crowds in City

Weather Co-Operates With Program Plan For Large-Scale, Widespread Festivity

Record holiday activity, with hundreds of tourists flowing in to help celebrate Canada's 85th birthday, is expected on Vancouver Island.

Everyone is co-operating, from sport promoters who have lined up a spectacular calendar of events, to the weatherman—who cautiously predicts "mostly sunny" with a top temperature of 68.

Although Victoria's weatherman William Mackie has one eye watchfully on a weather disturbance 900 miles northwest of Victoria, he makes no mention of rain in his forecast. There will be increasing cloudiness late Tuesday.

He said Tuesday will be a little warmer than recent days, but there will be 25-mile-an-hour southwest winds in the afternoon.

VARIED PROGRAM

Victorians will have a varied program of events from which to choose their holiday recreation.

Baseball fans will be at Royal Athletic Park hoping to see the Victoria Tyees pull out of their slump. Game times for a double-header are 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m., and Wenatchee Chiefs provide the opposition.

Crickets fans will crowd around the Beacon Hill Park oval where Victoria All-Stars and Vancouver clash at 10:30 a.m.

The Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association-sponsored speedboat races in Esquimalt Lagoon are expected to attract a large holiday crowd.

Races will be run between 1 and 5 p.m. with more than 40 speedsters participating. An excellent view will be available for all spectators because the races will be only 100 feet offshore.

Up-Island, Duncan plans a gala day with loggers' sports, horse racing, baseball and dances.

Nine contestants are in the Queen contest, winner of which will go to the Pacific National Exhibition in August.

Ladysmith and Courtenay also have celebrations planned.

Greater Victoria police chiefs have asked motorists to drive sensibly, pointing out that "alcohol and gasoline don't mix."

The National Safety Council frankly admits it hopes its estimates of traffic fatalities is all wrong.

"Make our estimates of traffic deaths look silly," is the council's attitude.

All stores and places of business will be closed Tuesday, and there will be no mail deliveries.

Early Seaway Start Likely

Canada-U.S. Seek Authority For Huge Power Development

OTTAWA, June 30 (CP) — The Canadian and United States government today applied to the International Joint Commission for authority to develop the power works of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway-power project.

Granting of the application would clear one of the last legal obstacles to the waterway, on which the United States Congress has for many years blocked joint Canada-U.S. action.

Under the application, permission is sought for construction of the $400,000,000 hydro-electric development to be carried out by agencies designated by the two governments. In Canada's case, the Ontario government has been designated, while the U.S. administration has not yet named the U.S. counterpart.

In the application, the Canadian government reiterated its intention of building alone the navigation phase of the seaway, expected to cost around $300,000,000. This is to be done concurrently with the power job and does not call for specific authorization from the international commission.

REQUESTS PRIORITY

Prime Minister St. Laurent asked the commission to give all possible priority to the project so that construction "may be undertaken at the earliest possible date."

The proposed power development will be in the international rapids section of the river, a fast-moving 48-mile stretch just upriver from Cornwall.

His column will appear Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, on Page 4.

Things'll be duller than ever, with th' painters out on strike.

Shot With Arrow

Playing with bow and arrows Sunday nearly cost five-year-old Terry Humby of 242 Beachwood, his right eye. The youngster was hit below the eye when an 11-year-old friend fired an arrow at him in play.

Police Chief John Blackstock warned parents that bows and arrows, slingshots and air rifles in the hands of youngsters can be dangerous weapons and appealed to them to check their children if they are found playing with them. He said licenses are now required for air rifles—it is illegal to discharge them within the city limits. (Times Photo.)

Supreme Court Upholds Validity of Market Law

OTTAWA, June 30 (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today upheld the validity of 1949 federal marketing legislation authorizing provinces to direct the marketing of their farm products beyond provincial borders.

The court reversed a judgment of the Supreme Court of Prince Edward Island that held the Agricultural Products Marketing Act was unconstitutional and that interprovincial and international marketing schemes based on it were invalid.

Several such schemes set up by provinces under the 1949 statute were suspended after the ruling of the P.E.I. court early this year. The P.E.I., New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and British Columbia governments joined the federal government in fighting that decision.

The supreme court ruling enables the revival of those marketing operations. There is no further appeal, since the case was started after parliament abolished appeals to the privy council.

While the Supreme Court here unanimously decided the 1949 legislation and extra-provincial schemes based on it are valid, it gave majority decisions against two features of the P.E.I. Potato Marketing Board's scheme that was the subject of the case at issue.

The majority found that: 1. The board could not, as it purported to do, name representatives to act jointly with boards in the other Atlantic provinces to regulate and co-ordinate the marketing of potatoes.

2. A proposed levy on P.E.I. producers of one cent per 100 pounds of potatoes they marketed was invalid.

On those two points, the Supreme Court of Canada agreed with the findings of the provincial court.

The P.E.I. board had been formed originally to market potatoes within the island only. It was given extra-provincial powers under the 1949 statute and a federal order-in-council based on the statute. Both the legislation and the order-in-council were held valid by the high court.

The P.E.I. court had ruled the legislation contravened the principle that federal powers could not be delegated to a provincial government agency.

The nominal defendant in the test case launched by the P.E.I. government was the island firm of H. B. Willis, Inc. The appeal was carried to the top court by the P.E.I. potato marketing board.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

"Up to a point," says my friend at Shawnigan, "I'll go along with motorboats on the lake."

"They're okay for old folk who just want to putt-putt along fishing, and I never had any kick against the delivery boats that used to bring milk, groceries or fresh fruit to your front landing. On a still evening I've even found some of the outboards, the less powerful ones, pretty interesting, too."

"When you get two people in a rowboat with a small kicker on the end, you can hear some of the most provocative conversations that ever drifted around the lake."

"Folks in those boats don't realize how sound travels over water. They only know they have to shout to make their fellow passengers hear them over the noise of the engine. Usually the fellow passengers can't hear them. But the folks on shore can."

"Rep. You can pick up some interesting information from the putt-putts that pass by. There's always someone in them who knows the inside on the neighbors around the lake. What's more, they can't keep their information bottled up. Personally, I don't go for Winchell, but the boat broadcasts make entertaining listening."

"It's all private stuff. What the person in the bow is shouting to the person in the stern is meant only for the ears of the man aft. Too bad he can't catch it. And it isn't your fault if you're sitting on shore and are forced to listen in. You're not eavesdropping or keyhole peeping. But what you hear!"

"Those old-time country telephone conversations, with everybody on the line, have nothing on the boat gossip. At least the old-time telephoners knew they were being heard. The waterborne Winchells are obvious."

Just Keeping Informed

"After a quiet evening at the lake shore you can wander over to the neighboring camp and confront its owners with: 'Guess what I heard about you last night?' Then they'll reply: 'Don't say it, or I'll tell what they were saying about you as they went by.'"

"With an arrangement like that, you don't really need newspapers. Things get around without them."

"Sure, there's something to be said for putt-putts on the lake. They're entertaining. I'll go along with them provided they're small. But when it comes to the speedboats that go roaring around—why they're just a nuisance and an interference with the accepted channels of information. You can't hear a thing from them."

"When they start blasting the silence apart, you might just as well go indoors and turn on the radio—which isn't half as good and hasn't any part of the local color you get from a lakeshore broadcast."

"Those speedboats just produce profanity. They kick up a racket that destroys the peacefulness of the evening scene. They throw a wave that is a menace to the jetty or float you've built, and a threat to the youngsters around the corner who've just learned how to swim. They send mothers screaming at children out in kayaks. And they cover up the warning hum of mosquitoes, which can move in under the blanket of their roar and bite you before you know they're around."

"Now maybe I'm getting a little old and stuffy," says my friend at Shawnigan, "but I'd pass a law against them—or else make them operate over the shallows at the head of Finlayson Arm. That'd be the place for them. Then the old settler there and the deer and other wildlife could invite the car racers in just to get back at the speedboats."

There's a Place for Speedboats

"It isn't that I'm against speedboats in themselves. There's a place for speedboats—though I'm too polite to name it. All I'm after is a return of the serenity there used to be at the lake in the evening—just a little quiet time when a person could hear what people passing in the small putt-putts were saying."

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

Condensed from CP, AP, and UP Dispatches

APOLOGY—In Washington the state department apologized publicly to Owen Lattimore Saturday and revoked the order barring the Far Eastern affairs specialist from leaving the United States.

In a statement the department described as false a tip it received to the effect that Lattimore was planning a trip behind the Iron Curtain. It was on the basis of this tip that the department directed customs officials to stop the Johns Hopkins University professor from leaving the U.S.

"The Department of State expresses to Mr. Lattimore its sincere regret over the embarrassment caused him," the statement said.

AMBUSHED—Ninety-one persons, including two United States soldiers, were killed in guerrilla ambushes and dynamited a train at Sagari, South Korea police reported today.

Another 80 were wounded.

The Americans were part of an anti-guerrilla guard on the train. The dead also included 29 South Korean soldiers and police.

(Reports reaching Pusan, June 25, said bandits had killed 46 persons in a raid on a train near Sagari the day before. These reports said two Americans were wounded.)

BAKED—Europe baked in the blazing 90's today, hottest day of the year.

Meteorologists reported no prospects of rain or a break in the heat wave, extending from Paris to Moscow.

In London, thousands slept in parks Sunday night and awoke to the highest early-morning temperatures in three years. The degrees at dawn and heading toward the 80's. But scores of women, queuing all night before downtown stores to get first chances at bargains in the opening of mid-summer sales today.

Pilot Gambles With Life Survives Crash Landing

R.C.A.F. Officer Guides Faltering Fighter Plane From Up-Island Town.

The one-in-a-million chance—of crash-landing a Mustang fighter aircraft safely in a forest—was taken near Qualicum Beach Saturday by F.O. M. C. McKay, Vancouver.

He won the gamble.

Harry Burgoyne of Hilliers, and his son Bill, were the first to reach the crash scene.

"First we walked across the wings," Burgoyne said. "They were broken in five pieces. Then we came across the motor. Then we found the cockpit and tail assembly."

The pilot was lying in a hole in the ground," he continued. "His head was under the cockpit, he had a cut under his right eye and on the back of his hand, and his right jaw was swollen, but he was still chitper."

"What happened?" he said. I told him to move his arms and legs to make sure they weren't broken, and asked him about his back. "Okay," he said, "but I'm still a little woozy in the head."

The pilot was taken to Comox Hospital for treatment, and was later flown to Vancouver. The aircraft is a total loss.

Canadian Hero Of Jet Landing

Sqr. Ldr. Bill Waterton of Edmonton Nurses Down Britain's Flying Triangle

LONDON, June 30 (CP)—Canadian-born W. A. (Bill) Waterton, who risked his life in a crash landing aboard Britain's newest and most powerful jet fighter, basked today in the limelight he detests.

For Sqn. Ldr. Waterton, a native of Edmonton who grew up in Camrose, Alta., eschews heroics. In a recent, reluctant reply to a letter requesting an interview, Waterton pleaded that his name be kept free of "sensationalism and the extrovert superlatives of some sections of the press."

Waterton is chief test pilot of Britain's supersonic flying triangle, the Gloster G.A. 5. On a trial spin Sunday, he took the jet up from Moreton Valence airfield, near his home in Gloucester, to try out its new elevators.

Something went wrong. But instead of bailing out, Waterton nursed the plane down, risked a crash and saved flight details recorded in a camera log. Part of the plane burned out but Waterton was unhurt.

SAVED INSTRUMENTS

A Gloster official said Waterton did a "wonderful job."

"He could have bailed out but he stayed to save the recording instruments," the official said. "Now we have a cine-film record of the flight."

The Gloster G.A.T., known as the flying triangle, is the chief hope of Britain's future air defenses for these islands. Its twin jets are believed capable of pro-

KOREAN ASSEMBLY GETS ULTIMATUM FROM RHEE

PUSAN, Korea, June 30 (AP)—South Korea's political crisis neared a climax today as President Syngman Rhee handed the assembly an ultimatum—adopt his proposed constitutional amendments quickly or he will dissolve the legislature.

"I will wait only a few more days," Rhee declared, then "I will take decisive action in compliance with the will of the people."

Rhee did not indicate how he would go about dissolving the assembly. Korea's constitution makes no provision for such action.

The 77-year-old president and the National Assembly have been feuding bitterly since January. Rhee demands constitutional amendments providing for popular election of a president and a two-house legislature.

The one-house assembly elects the president. It was scheduled to do so last week but Rhee supporters forced postponement of the election.

Truman Signing Wages Bill

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—Administration leaders said today President Truman will sign later in the day a bill extending wage and price controls for 10 months.

Speaker Samuel Rayburn (Dem., Tex.) of the Senate told reporters after a White House conference that the President is "not too well pleased with it" but that signing the measure is "the only thing he can do."

The bill as passed by Congress Saturday bears little resemblance to the controls legislation Truman asked of the House of Representatives and Senate last year. He wanted authority to control wages and prices extended for two years, until June 30, 1954, and he asked that current controls provisions be strengthened.

Instead Congress weakened some of the controls authority and placed a 10-month limit on an extension.

Today's more powerful engines require a highly complex gasoline to deliver their full power. There can be as many as 1500 different chemical compounds in a gallon of gasoline.

To select the best of these chemicals, and to arrange them properly to fulfill the needs of your car calls for the last word in refinery equipment and scientific skill.

It is Shell's manufacturing policy to make "The most powerful gasoline your car can use." Shell activates gasoline by splitting and rearranging petroleum molecules.

The result—Shell Premium—the most powerful gasoline your car can use. See the Shell Dealer in your neighborhood.

Trouble in Opposition

THE ASTRINGENT ATMOSPHERE OF opposition is usually good for the health of political parties. There, after a term of office, they can reform their ideas, reconsider their policies and re-consolidate their lost unity. But that healing process has not occurred in the British Labour party. In opposition it is more divided than ever until all semblance of unity or leadership has disappeared.

The symptom, though not the basic cause of this schism, is Mr. Bevan. In his candid ambition to be party leader and ultimately prime minister Mr. Bevan has lately launched an unprecedented attack upon Mr. Attlee. It takes the form of an article in the Tribune, which is edited by Mr. Bevan's wife.

The Tribune demands that the Labour party discipline Mr. Attlee for refusing to adopt its policies and says that he "has once more threatened the unity of the party by not adjusting his views to the movement of opinion amongst the rank and file and also now amongst some of the top leaders of the party. . . This is not leadership. It is just waiting for something to turn up. In fact, it is the paralysis of leadership."

While the words are the Tribune's everyone in Britain knows that they come from Mr. Bevan.

The immediate cause of this breach is the Labour party's policy on the rearmament of Western Germany. The executive committee of the Labour party publicly demanded new negotiations between the West and Russia before German rearmament was undertaken. Mr. Attlee promptly repudiated that policy in Parliament and indicated that the party's statement would not bind him. He refused to abandon the opposite policy which he followed in office. Therefore, the Bevan group evidently intends to destroy him if it can. This appears unlikely but if Mr. Bevan cannot replace Mr. Attlee at the moment he can undermine Mr. Attlee's authority. This he is now doing.

The present quarrel centres around German rearmament and Mr. Bevan's attempt to reduce the rearmament program of Britain. The roots of the quarrel go much deeper than that. The Socialist Party is trying to think its way out of a dead end after the failure of Socialism to solve Britain's problems.

It is no answer to say that the Conservative government has not succeeded either. Socialism of itself, the magic of nationalized industries, was supposed, after the war, to cure everything and it has failed so obviously that the Labour Party no longer proposes any significant expansion of nationalization.

For some time the Fabian Society, the real brain trust and parent of the Labour Party, has been pondering the philosophical dilemma of Socialism. Its thoughts, presented in a recent pamphlet, are, as usual, brilliantly worded and include an able analysis of the world's ills. The Fabians, however, have nothing concrete to offer and they virtually reject further nationalization. They have seen at last that there is no magic in the mere transfer of the title deeds of industry from private owners to the state.

Moreover, the Fabians are worried by the very danger which other thinkers have always seen in Socialism—the growing power of the state, threatening the liberty of all citizens.

If this does not add up to a philosophy or even a policy it shows a definite advance in Labour thinking, a disillusionment with easy solutions out of which a philosophy and a policy may ultimately come. At this point, with a bitter quarrel between its leaders and no accepted corpus of ideas, the Labour Party is not equipped for office even if the Conservative Party also is divided and its policies, so far, have not removed the threat of a new and greater economic crisis not long hence.

Under the Coonskin Cap

IN RECENT WEEKS THE SPOT-light of American political attention has swung between Senator Robert A. Taft and Dwight D. Eisenhower to such a degree that his beams rest fleetingly only on Democratic candidates.

Some of the more cautious United States publications, mindful of the surprise of Harry Truman's last presidential victory, are calling attention to that fact. They remark on the divisions being created among Republicans and suggest that as each of that party's candidates weakens the other in the contest, Democratic strength has a chance to grow.

In popularity polls, Eisenhower has appeared his apparent to the White House. In the mechanical process of machine politics, Sen. Taft seems to be retaining his strength.

As the analysts see the picture, the Republican machine politicians would favor Taft. But, having roamed so long in the wilderness they may easily swing to Eisenhower in the convention hall in the belief that "like" is their best chance of carrying the election.

In the opposing camp, the eventual candidate is no more certain. Yet Sen. Estes Kefauver is piling up credits in an energetic and thorough campaign, which leads Harry Conn, a member of the staff of the Public Affairs Institute in Washington, to ask and answer in part the question, "What's behind the Kefauver handshake?"

"Many usually discerning liberals," writes Mr. Conn, "refuse to believe that there can be either conviction or profundity beneath the coonskin cap. They see him as a TV clown, a hapdasher, a headline hunter, weak in his position on civil rights and inexperienced in the vital field of foreign affairs. They admit that his voting record is good. But what does Kefauver have to offer, they ask, besides his votes?"

Mr. Conn dissects the Kefauver record in a New Republic article. In that record is listed activity in the fields of anti-trust legislation, legislative reorganization and civil liberties, a recent intensive interest in foreign affairs and Atlantic Union and his widely publicized crime investigation.

Honored on His Centenary

AN HONOR, LONG DELAYED, WAS paid last week in Paris when the coffin of Louis Braille, originator of the reading system for sightless persons, was carried from its former resting place and deposited in the Pantheon. There, among France's illustrious dead, Braille now will rest.

He probably only dimly foresaw, when he died just 100 years ago, the extent to which his invention would be developed. Through it, the blind have made contact with the books of the ages; their handicaps have been in some degree lessened, their lives brightened despite their severe affliction.

So it was that a strange procession followed this man's coffin to his honored new grave. To the slow tapping of white canes the men and women who bless the name of Braille marched to pay homage. It remained for one of the greatest of those who have triumphed over their affliction to cap the remembrance. Helen Keller, the American who was born blind and deaf and learned to surmount both handicaps, told a gathering at the Sorbonne:

"This is, indeed, a celebration of all the years in which the sightless have banished darkness with the inner light of knowledge, and they ask only that where their capabilities have been proved they may be permitted to participate more fully in the activities of their seeing fellow men."

Hanging by a Few Threads

THE FATE OF EMPIRE, THE BRITISH trade journal Tailor and Cutter implies, literally hangs by a few threads. Since Malcolm MacDonald appeared in shirt-sleeves at Helen Traub's Singapore concert, those threads are wearing thinner and thinner.

Take from the British official his dinner jacket, suggests the publication, and with it goes British dignity and importance. Left is an impressive image—a poor torso probably with protruding ribs and the unattractive bulge of relaxed abdominal muscles.

How can the admiration of the East be preserved for that figure? How can the power and glory of dominance of the West in the Orient be maintained without the cut-away front revealing the starched and immaculate shirt bosom?

If clothes don't make the man in Malay, what will give man from the West his position? What, in fact, will give any man authority and dignity in that part of the world?

These seem to be questions nobody put to Gandhi when he was alive and apparently boycotting Saville Row. These are questions unanswered by contemplation of the East's great philosophical leaders contemplating the place where their lower shirt studs should have been. But think of what Gandhi and the others might have been to the Orient if only they had worn the proper clothes.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

ONE OF the best things about running a company these days is that you have to call in some ad-men and public-relations types (known as P.R. men) to write your annual report for you, and decorate it and even it up. There is a theory that not even a shareholder can read a financial statement unless it contains colored snapshots, big arrows pointing all over the place, dramatic diagrams explaining what arithmetic means in terms of wedge-shaped helpings of pie (or possibly cheese), and enormous balances weighing things. Also pictures of contented female employees in pure white smocks, looking as contented as possible but not very busy.

THIS report doesn't cost the company a cent, even though it is half an inch thick. It is all paid for by the shareholders, not the P.R. men. The P.R. men are under the impression that they are selling something to the shareholder. Nobody has yet explained to them that the shareholder already holds his shares, and doesn't need to be sold anything further. . . though he might not mind being sold the idea that the P.R. boys were saving him money. He might even appreciate being treated like a high school kid instead of like a kindergarten type.

I OWN a couple of very tiny shares in a grocery firm. Each year its annual report gets more dramatic and childish. But this year it was really a record-breaking lulu. It was in the shape of a newspaper, to grip me more vividly. Just why a balance-sheet in the guise of a newspaper should overpower me is something my grocery firm will have to explain. It's beyond a mere child like myself. It must obviously be produced by human beings, but their motives escape me. Which is a pity, because I yearn to learn what they must call their Philosophy of Life.

There are sixteen pages, each measuring 11½x17 inches. These are crammed with news about good ole Joe and good ole Al and their little girls and their bowling clubs. There is even an snapshot from the Chamber of Horrors, showing our company solicitor's idea of what sort of haircut and moustache will best sustain his legal studies. What sort of P.R. man thinks I am interested in the hair-do of my firm's solicitor?

THERE is a great fallacy afflicting the world today. This fallacy concerns itself with the notion that I am just busting to look at photographs of men I have never met and never want to meet. But when I start my own company, are we ever going to get out a report! Pictures of me in my underwear (the human touch). Diagrams showing cheese balanced against pie. Financial statistics in terms of comic-strip, with Hopalong Annie explaining to Little Orphan Cassidy that debts and credits are the same thing if the auditors say they balance. There will be a further innovation. It will be an ode to Harold Winch, set to music. It will explain to him and other interested parties that if a shareholder pays income tax, the company has already paid income tax. Because the shareholder IS the company.

BLACK SAMBO

WELL, poor little Black Sambo isn't going to be allowed to be cute any more, anyway. If my poor old eyes don't deceive me, I see before me a clipping about a bunch of enthusiasts in Rochester, N.Y., who want Little Black Sambo kicked out of the school libraries. The story, they say, is "not good for human relations and democratic principles."

It's a funny thing, but I always imagined kids LIKED Sambo instead of hating him and mocking him. Old Brock's wrong again. I had better ask another Rochester, on Jack Benay's program, how he feels about all this. And while waiting for his reply, I shall go through my own children's books, deleting all references to Man Friday, Joe Louis, Josephine Baker, Huck Finn's pal Jim, and Noah's son Ham. To mention only a few.

All good blokes, and good friends of mine, same as Sambo. But if they've got to go, they've got to go. Poor Sambo. Poor me. Poor kids. Poor Rochester.

UNFAMILIAR EXPRESSIONS

I HAVE a close relative who never gets close enough to a common word or phrase to have it sound dull. She brings the old mother-tongue almost to life, in a cockeyed way. The other day she told me that someone was looking quite woe-begotten. Just think of how many look like that. And of someone who got pugnacious about thinking himself always right: "He's got a hunch on his shoulder, that one."

MY PLAINTIVE ANTHEM FADES

STARTING on Wednesday, chaps, I must write you an invisible column. I'll be with you in spirit but not on paper. I hope to be back on this page before too long. I am leaving one foot in the door. It happens to be a rabbit's foot, too, which is as lucky as I hope you all will be. It is not my fault I am quitting. The fell clutch of circumstance done got me. Also the bludgeonings of chance. If fate wants to creep on me, I can't object, but I wish he wouldn't bring his pals with him. I don't object to one damn thing after another. . . it seems a logical sequence. All I complain about is several damn things on top of each other.

IT HAS been fun writing Chips. Yes, I know. . . what's fun to the boys is death to the frogs. But I've not seen any dead frogs around here. If I had, I'd have buried them with full military honors. Far be it from me to croak a frog.

In taking my leave of you, cullies, I must quote Robt. Herrick:

I will no longer kiss,
I can no longer stay;
The way of all Flesh is
That I must go this day:
Since longer I can't live,
My frolick Youths adieu;
My Lamp to you I'll give,
And all my troubles too,
Au revoir. A bientot!

SCHOOL BOOK

In view of recent developments, might I suggest that everyone interested in the question of separate schools, especially the members of the Legislature, will find invaluable a recent book, "American Freedom and Catholic Power," by Paul Blanchard, New York barrister and author.

This book is a highly documented review of the separate school system in the United States.

Mr. Blanchard gratefully acknowledges the assistance he has received from hundreds of friends and advisers, both Catholic and non-Catholic.

OLYMPIC FUND

The Victoria Olympic Fund Committee wishes to thank all the organizations and individuals who contributed so generously toward the raising of money to send B.C. athletes to the trials and to the Olympic Games. The total contributions received at the time of writing are close to $2,200. This marvellous figure clearly indicates the sporting and co-operative nature of the Victoria public. It is of great encouragement to our athletes to know that their Victoria supporters went over the top by more than 100 per cent.

As contributions are still being received, the committee wishes to point out that these are being forwarded immediately to the Canadian Olympic Fund. Receipts will be sent out by the B.C. Olympic Committee in Vancouver in the very near future. Through no fault of the Victoria Committee this has been delayed.

Because of Victoria generosity, two athletes have already been afforded the opportunity of going to the Canadian trials. This might not have been possible otherwise. To say that our two Olympic coaches, Archie and Bruce, have not been greatly encouraged, would be an understatement.

The Victoria Committee also wishes to thank the Victoria "Shamrocks" and the Victoria "Tees" for the opportunity these two organizations gave for the public to contribute one-third of the final total. The co-operation and generosity of all have been greatly appreciated.

PREDICAMENT

In your issue of June 24, Mrs. S. C. Beeson seems of the opinion because a candidate at the recent provincial election, did not have to put up a deposit (fine), thereby it was the cause of the predicament in the said B.C. election.

It would be very amusing if it was not so tragic. Your correspondent, on the one hand so to speak, complained of dictatorship, on the other, being an advocate of democracy.

Surely one can see at a glance the cause of the predicament—Social Credit; not on account of a candidate being required to put up a "deposit." Furthermore every citizen is not endowed with "slush funds."

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOLIN

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "a lot of talk these days about totem poles—people finding miniature ones in trunks, fixing up the big ones down at Thunderbird Park, and so on. The totem pole was a great invention, and the white man was wise to pick it up and make it his own. Of course, we handle it a little differently. The Indian was so stoical and calm his face never showed any traces of what he was thinking or what he had gone through. So naturally, to portray the history of his family, he had to figure out a set of images carved in wood that would tell the story. The white man's face is much more mobile. It changes shape and expression to show every emotion, as well as developing wrinkles and other marks to give an idea of its past history. He didn't need wooden carvings, his own face was able to do the job—although in many cases not so pleasant a sight as the totem pole gargoyles. The Indian set his carved history in front of his house. We carry ours around with us like a sandwich man on half pay. We even paint them, at least the squares do. But I think the Indians had better material to work on. Lower main!

"One of the advantages," said the Elevator Man, "of red cedar over flesh and bone, was that you could take more time and care with the job. You could be more deliberate, and only put into the figure what you wanted to express. But the white man's totem, his face, is just as likely to give him away as help him. It says too many things that we don't even realize and aren't conscious of. It not only tells the world our story—it exposes our very soul. It not only spells the past, it spills the beans. Going down! 'You'd think,' said the Elevator Man, 'the fact that we are our own totem poles would spur some of us to put out a more attractive job. No Indian would set up a badly-carved, poorly-colored pole to represent him. Yet we think nothing of sending out a body and mind into the world that form a poor advertisement for us to say the least. We should handle the carving knife so we don't cut our own throat.'"

It cannot be denied that the existence of the Manchurian sanctuary has been a source of infuriating frustration to the U.N. forces. From a military standpoint, the Yalu bases are undeniably a legitimate and vital target.

Nevertheless, the decision to blast them cannot have been anything else but a political one made on the highest level. The point is, who made this perilous decision which could bring the whole Western world into a possibly disastrous war with China?

Bring Those Germs Into Court

By WALTER LIPPMANN
From Washington

THE American government is in the position of a man, accused of a monstrous crime, who has as yet been unable to bring his accusers into open court. The Chinese government in Peking is accusing the United States of the deliberate use of germs to produce disease in China and in North Korea. The accusation is—without qualification—of any kind—false. There is no doubt that the U.S. will be vindicated in the opinion of mankind if only the accusation can be tried before a competent tribunal.

Our immediate business, therefore, is to insist that we will not be denied our right to have these charges tried. We have submitted a resolution to the Security Council requesting an investigation of the charges by the International Committee of the Red Cross. The Communist governments have already replied that they will not agree to this investigation.

We should make our appeal for an investigation particularly to the nations which are not directly involved in these charges. We should argue that this is the kind of problem which the United Nations exists to deal with.

In the first place the problem is important. If the accusation were true, the United States would have betrayed the trust to which the United Nations have appointed us in Korea. If the accusation is false, it is deliberate war-mongering. The U.N. cannot, therefore, afford not to seize the issue and to deal with it.

In the second place, this is an issue in which the only criterion and the only consideration is the truth. None of the factors of power that ordinarily play so much in international affairs is involved here.

Military might, money, men, size, the form of the government, ideologies—they are all quite irrelevant. Therefore, here, in seeing to it that the truth becomes known and that justice is done, the small nations and the weak nations have the same duty as the greatest powers. They have also a golden opportunity to show to mankind what can be done by reason and truth alone even now amidst the violence of this age.

RIGHT TO TRIAL

Therefore, I say, let us insist—not on exchanging insults with Mr. Malik, not on this point or that of the procedure—but on our right to have the charges tried under the auspices of the United Nations. If we are blocked in the Security Council, we should not permit any other business to come up until it has been fully and publicly established that the U.S.S.R. has refused to merely our proposal for an inquiry but all proposals for an inquiry, except its own.

Then we should carry the case before the Security Council to the General Assembly and there we should demand again that the charges be tried.

In the end, if we persevere, we shall get a tribunal and the opportunity to convince mankind that the accusation is false, or we shall convince mankind that our accusers are afraid to face a trial knowing that the accusation will be proved false.

I would not, of course, talk this way if I were not sure that the accusation is false. Perhaps, then, I might say for the benefit of those who have not had a chance to look into the matter why I am so sure, even though, as an old hand in the investigation of charges, I know the difficulty of proving a negative.

So great is the difficulty that in law the accuser has to make positive proof or the accusation falls. But here the accuser will not come into court, and yet for our own peace of mind and for that of those who respect truth, we have to judge the charge ourselves.

My own certainty began with testimony which, I realize perfectly well, our enemies will treat with scorn.

It is simply that the two highest responsible men in the United States government—who would have to give the orders to conduct germ warfare—have said on their word of honor that there is no truth of any kind in the charges.

BASIS OF BELIEF

Both these men happen to be old personal friends, and I believe them. If I had not believed them, I don't know just what I would have done. But I would not be writing this article.

The charges themselves come down to this: We are accused of dropping bombs, containing insects infected with deadly diseases, in the coastal area of China from Canton northwards. We are accused also of using wind to blow infected paper bags, feathers, and cotton balls across the front line in Korea.

Now the United States government has the capacity to wage germ warfare—as it has the capacity to wage chemical warfare. An investigation will show that in this gruesome research the use of insects to carry diseases has long since been given up in favor of something far more efficient and devilish, namely what is known as an "aerosol." This is something like the spray of a flit gun which hangs in the air and can be breathed in.

In the light of this bit of fact, the evidence that the Chinese are offering is curious. They are exhibiting two kinds of bombs which they say we used to drop infected insects.

OLD CHARGES

But the pattern and substance of the charges against us are a repetition of charges made against the Japanese on March 31, 1942, by Dr. Wang Shih-chih, the minister of information. The Chinese government of that day claimed it had made a long investigation and had found conclusive proof that the Japanese had dropped infected objects on Changchun in Hunan on Nov. 4, 1941, and that six Chinese died of bubonic plague.

This Chinese government has used against us the old accusation against Japan, not stopping to realize that the Japanese methods which they attribute to us have long been known to be ineffective and are quite obsolete.

GERMAN RUNNER EQUALS WORLD 1,500-METRE MARK

BERLIN, June 30 (AP)—Werner Lueg of Germany Sunday tied the world record for the 1,500-metre run with a time of 3:43.0 in the qualifying trials for Germany's Olympic team.

Lueg's feat stamped him as a potential Olympic champion. He tied the record set by Gunder Haegg of Sweden July 7, 1944, and later matched by Lennart Strand of Sweden July 15, 1947.

Two other Germany runners turned in excellent times in the same race. Gunter Dohrow, whom Lueg dethroned as Germany champion, was second in 3:44.8 and Rolf Lamers was third in 3:47.4.

All bettered the Olympic record of 3:47.8 set by Jack Lovelock of New Zealand in 1936.

McElvin Back With Tyees

There was good news for followers of the Victoria Tyees this week-end.

It was disclosed by general manager Reg Patterson that Cal McElvin, left-handed hurling star, is back with the club to stay—for the time being, at least.

The property of Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League, McElvin had been lost last week to report to the Beavers to bolster the mound staff of the coast club.

However, Portland, after changing its mind twice, has decided to leave McElvin in Victoria and he will pitch one of Tuesday's two games.

Jessie Heard will likely pitch the other game of the double-header with Wenatchee Chiefs.

Gunnarson Joins Club

Further strengthening the pitching staff, the Tyees have purchased veteran left-hander Carl Gunnarson from the Vancouver Capilanos.

Gunnarson was forced into temporary retirement when the W.I.L. clubs cut their rosters to conform with the veteran rule in late May.

Tyees were rained out in Tri-City Sunday but split a double-header Saturday.

Rookie Bill Wisniewski pitched his first complete game of the season in the first game but lost a tough 2-1 decision to veteran Charlie Gassaway who limited the Tyees to four scattered singles.

10TH VICTORY

Ben Lorino put Victoria back on the victory trail in the second game with a 6-0 masterpiece. For Lorino, it was shut-out number five and victory number 12.

Lorino held the Braves to six hits in the second game while the Tyees picked up 11 blows. Grady Gladstone, the top pitcher with two singles, a double and three runs batted in.

BUSY WEEK

Tyees have the day off today but they face a busy week. Following Tuesday's holiday split double-header, they play single games here on Wednesday and Thursday. They go to Spokane for a double-header Friday, one game Saturday and a double-header Sunday, returning home Monday.

Salem helped the Tyees out Sunday in a rain-abbreviated slate of games. The Senators knocked off the fast-rising Vancouver Capilanos twice, 8-1 and 7-5, to restore Victoria's six-game lead over the Caps.

INDIANS LOSE

In the only Sunday game that escaped the rain, Yakima Bears edged Spokane Indians 6-5.

In Saturday games, Spokane and Yakima split a pair, Indians taking the first game 7-0 but dropping the second 4-3. Lewis tossed out Wenatchee 3-2 Saturday.

OLYMPIC TEAM HAS DEFINITE POSSIBILITIES

Archie, Bruce Proud of 'Kids'

(Special to The Times)

HAMILTON, June 30.—Victoria's two Olympic coaches got together here over the week-end and came to one unanimous decision—Canada is better represented in the 1952 Olympics than she was in 1948.

The reason, say both track coach Bruce Humber and swimming coach Archie McKinnon, is experience.

"Pete Salmon and Allan Gilchrist are both Olympic repeaters," points out Olympic-wise McKinnon.

"Lucien Beaumont and Leo Portelance went along to New Zealand in 1950. Only Gerry McNamee is short on big time experience and he's a great swimmer," says Archie. "The girls have the experience too. In Irene Strong and Kay McNamie. The other girls look good too."

McKinnon is high on free-styler Gladys Priestly and Lenora Fisher, the team's ace backstroke. "We should be able to put together a good 400-metre girls' relay, although Lenora's free style is not as strong as her back stroke," McKinnon says. The men will team up in the 800-metre relay to give Canada a squad that could finish well up in the finals.

"It's the same old story though," laments Archie. "If we could just take a couple more we'd be able to change around and enter other relay events. Finances are always the big worry in getting extra team members."

McKinnon and his team of 10 swimmers now are in Montreal awaiting departure to Helsinki on July 11.

The one big thing that tickled both Archie and Bruce, of course, was the showing their own "Y" athletes put on in gaining team berths.

Archie has brought Peter Salmon from his "Y" tadpole classes to Canada's greatest swimmer, while Bruce has developed Bob Hutchison and Dawn Josephs to the top performers in their events, along with Bill Parnell, present Empire Games mile champ.

McKinnon, who works closely with the "Y" track team, was delighted when he heard of Dawn and Bob's selection to the track and field team.

Both coaches were naturally bursting with their vest buttons over the fact that six out of 10 swimmers are British Columbians, while eight of the 23 track and field athletes are west coasters.

Dawn Josephs' performances were particularly outstanding, Humber felt. "This was her first big meet and under pressure she defeated the best in Canada as well as making the 18-foot standard with an inch and a quarter to spare. She also tied for first in the high jump. I was really proud of her," said Bruce.

"Bob Hutchison's determination and drive in the finish of the 100 metres, which pulled him through from fourth to a photo-finish second, put him on the team. The fact that his time was the same as the winners was an important factor.

Runners Dominate Squad Of 16 Men, Seven Women

HAMILTON, June 30 (CP)—Canada's bid for track and field honors at the Olympic Games in Finland will be centred on the runners.

The Canadian Olympic Association executive came up Sunday with a list of 16 men and seven women, selected on the basis of performance at the Dominion championships.

Fourteen of the men and five of the women are runners. Before the Olympic executives reached their decision they indulged in an unprecedented show—an affair early Sunday morning without benefit of newspaper men—to decide who would make the girls' relay team.

The selection fell upon Rosella Thorne, well-muscled, negro speedster from Montreal, who will also compete in the women's broad jump and possibly in the 80-metre hurdles.

Tiny O'Halloran and Donna Wilson, both of Toronto, were hustled over from Toronto, 40 miles away. Miss Thorne and Joan Wood of Montreal, were roused from their beds in a Hamilton hotel.

SUNRISE SHOW

When the sunrise show was all over, Miss Thorne was the winner in a special 100-metre race. Her time was 12.5 seconds, 3-10 seconds slower than the Olympic standard set for the meet.

The Olympic Association executives stuck largely to actual Friday-Saturday performances in the championships and trials in making their Olympic selections.

FOUR VICTORIANS

Joining Victoria's Olympic coach Bruce Humber were three of his Victoria Y.M.C.A. stars, Dawn Josephs, Bob Hutchison and Bill Parnell.

Miss Josephs won the broad jump and finished in a tie for high-jump honors.

Hutchison ran second in the 100 metres and third in a blanket finish in the 200.

Parnell was second in the 1,500 metres and third in the 800-metre event.

The disappointment of the meet was Don McEwen of Ottawa. McEwen, a husky youngster who stars for the University of Michigan at a mile and two miles, was a disappointment in the 5,000-metre race. Well up with the leaders from the start, he collapsed from stomach pains and was passed up by the selectors.

Rich Ferguson, Toronto runner from Iowa University, rallied to win over an earlier lapse from the heat. Al Fisher of Victoria, leader most of the way in what became a three-man race, faltered under Ferguson's last-lap sprint.

ECKEL STANDOUT

In the debate over team selections there was no argument over Little Shirley Eckel of Toronto, a blonde youngster of 20, who is a 97-pound package of spring dynamite. She wrecked the Canadian record in the 80-metre hurdles and will be used in Helsinki also in the 100 or 200-metre sprints and possibly on the 400-metre relay team.

The two-day meet brought out nine Canadian records. Roy Pella, University of Michigan's tosser from Sudbury, Ont., heaved the discus 137 feet 3 1/2 inches against the old mark of 145 feet 9 1/2 inches, set by Eric Coy of Winnipeg in 1937.

RECORD BREAKERS

John Ross, of Oakville, another Michigander, traveled the 800 metres in 1:51.6 to better the record of 1:52.0 made in 1928 by Phil Edwards.

Ferguson's time of 15:18.8 in the 5,000 metres broke the old

FANNY BLANKERS-KOEN SHATTERS SPRINT MARK

ROTTERDAM, June 30 (AP)—Fanny Blankers-Koen, Netherlands star of the 1948 Olympic Games, beat the listed world record for 100 metres Sunday by running the distance in 11.4 seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than the old mark.

Mrs. Blankers-Koen held the old record with Helen Stephens of the United States. Miss Stephens set the mark Aug. 4, 1936, and Mrs. Blankers-Koen equalled it June 13, 1948.

Mrs. Blankers-Koen, who won the 100 and 200-metre races at the 1948 Olympic Games, was running in the Netherlands Olympic tryouts.

B.C. AMATEUR GOLF

McElroy Gains Quarter-Finals

VANCOUVER, June 30 (CP)—Walt McElroy, Canadian amateur golf champion, had two fights on his hands Sunday before entering the quarter-finals of the British Columbia amateur golf championship tourney.

McElroy was three down to Jackie Reynolds at the end of the first nine in the morning match but recovered in time for a 2 and 1 victory. He had to go to the 19th hole to defeat Dennis Willy in the afternoon match.

Defending B.C. champion Bill Mawhinney also had his troubles. He was down three to Lyle Hurschman at one point in the morning match but came back to win 1 up. He disposed of Lyle Crawford 2 and 1 in the afternoon round.

Quarter-finals and semifinals will be played today with the 36-hole final Tuesday.

In the quarter-finals, Mawhinney will face Wally McAlpine, who defeated Bob Boyle 3 and 2, and McElroy will take on Ken Hardie, who ousted Les Harvie 6 and 5.

Bob Kidd will meet Charlie Swanson and Jack Ellis will meet Hans Swinton in the other two quarter-final matches.

Kidd defeated Al Mundel 4 and 2; Swanson defeated Laurie Roland 2 and 1; Ellis defeated Percy Clegg 4 and 2; and Swinton defeated Kevin Riley 5 and 4.

Bob Woods, lone Victoria player to qualify, was eliminated in an early match.

Main Beaten in Ontario Net Play

TORONTO, June 30 (CP)—Montreal players took three of the four titles Saturday at the Ontario tennis championships.

Brendan Macken won the men's singles defeating Lorne Main of Vancouver, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-1; and then teamed up with brother Jim to take the men's doubles against Main and Don Fontana, Toronto, 6-4, 6-3.

Mrs. Tanna Sladek of Montreal defeated Mrs. L. Brown, Toronto, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2 in the ladies' singles.

SUFFERS SHOULDER SEPARATION Ferguson Lost To Shamrocks

NANAIMO, June 30—Victoria Shamrocks lost a lacrosse game and considerable face here Saturday night, but more important, they lost playing coach Arnold Ferguson for at least a month.

The game and face were lost when Nainaimo Native Sons scored a thrilling 17-16 win over the Rocks for their second victory of the season, both wins coming at the expense of the Shamrocks who continue to bow away from home.

Ferguson was lost to the club in the second half when he separated a shoulder attempting to hand out a body check.

Rock manager Ralph Baker reported Sunday night that the club doctor had confirmed the separation and that Ferguson would not be back in action until at least four weeks time.

BUGABOO CONTINUES

His loss completes a jinx that had dogged the four regular defencemen of last year's club. At the present time only Len Scott of last year's defencemen has escaped injury.

Red McMillan was the first to be hit, being put out of commission in an auto accident. He was followed by Norm Coates who has been out for three weeks, also with a shoulder separation and is not expected back for at least one more week.

And now Ferguson has been hit with the hex.

Saturday's game was wildly exciting from start to finish for the 1,000 fans who attended.

SONS IMBOVE

A stronger Nainaimo club, bolstered considerably by ex-New Westminster forward Jake Trotsuk, fought tooth and nail for their second victory of the year and were fully deserving, as they won it on sheer fight.

Neither club was able to build up a clear margin, play ranging quickly from one net to the other.

It was 4-4 at the end of the first quarter, but Nainaimo held a 9-7 edge at the half. Although Nainaimo again went ahead in the third quarter, the Rocks fought back to tie it up 11-11 going into the last quarter.

With less than one minute left in the game the clubs were tied 16-16, but Art Green drew a penalty. Gordon Nickle of the Sons took the ball at the Shamrock crease, broke with Trotsuk and with the crowd standing on a fence shot. Nainaimo ragged the ball for the remaining seconds.

THOMPSON CREDITABLE

Up from senior B ranks, Al Thompson turned in a creditable performance in goal for the Rocks, particularly in the last period when Nainaimo controlled the play.

Individual winners were: N. Howard, low gross; L. T. Sundeland, low net; E. Garbinson, kicker's handicap; Capt. Spencer, hidden holes, first nine; G. Ault, hidden holes, second nine.

A special prize of a nine-fours for low gross among the Navy players was presented to Lt. Cmdr. Strannix.

U.S. Net Stars Face Wimbledon Elimination

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 30 (AP)—United States' male tennis stars, their roster cut to three by a week's play at Wimbledon, face a determined fight this week to retain the Wimbledon title, only one of the three major grass courts tennis championships still in U.S. possession.

After the surprising triumph of big Dick Savitt of Orange, N.J., in these championships a year ago, the U.S. held all three titles. Savitt had won the Australian championship early in 1951, and Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., was the U.S. champion.

Today, Frank Sedgman of Australia is the U.S. champion, Ken McGregor of Australia is champion of his country and Savitt is a somewhat risky bet to retain the title here. Larsen already has been eliminated.

In today's quarter-finals between the top eight seeded stars, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the U.S. ranking player and seeded third in this tournament meets Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., sixth-seeded.

Farmers Split Twin Bill At Alberni

Farmers of the Senior Amateur Baseball League got two great pitching performances in Alberni, Sunday, but used only one of them as they divided an exhibition double-header with the Alberni Athletics.

Norm Forbes gave up only six hits in the first game as Farmers downed the A's 7-1. In addition Forbes took care of the heavy clouting by hitting a double and triple in four tries.

Farmers kicked away the second game as Bill Garner went down to a 3-2 loss to the A's. Garner gave up only five hits and struck out 10 but seven Farmer errors, five of them in the seventh inning when Alberni did all its scoring, sealed his doom.

The first-place New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians dominated the American League with three starters each; Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox landing one apiece.

The National loop's eight starters included two each from the Cardinals, first-place Brooklyn Dodgers and runner-up New York Giants, and one apiece from Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies.

Egypt Faces New Crisis With Government Switch

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 30 (AP)—Turbulent Egypt today struggled with her third cabinet crisis in five months following the resignation of Prime Minister Ahmed Naguib Hilal Pasha and the naming of another veteran independent politician, Hussein Pasha, to form a new government.

The 60-year-old Sirry Pasha, who has been premier three times before, received King Farouk's mandate to form a cabinet Sunday night and at once began discussions with political leaders.

His task was made more complex by the usual summertime dispersal of government activity between the court, in residence here for the season, and offices in Cairo. Politicians shuttled back and forth between the two capitals.

Tank Squadron On Way Home; Year at Front

TOKYO, June 30 (AP)—Canadian army sources said today a squadron of the Lord Strathcona Horse—165 men—sailed for home from Japan last week after providing armored support for the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea for more than a year.

The tank squadron is one of the last Canadian army special force units, originally formed for service in the Far East, to return home on rotation.

The squadron, commanded by Maj. M. W. Quinn of Saskatoon, landed in Pusan, Korea, May 4, 1951, and went into action May 24, relieving the Turkish Brigade on the central front east of Chonwon. It remained in action until June 8, 1952.

On one occasion, in October of last year, the squadron supported three infantry companies in a raid and during a 10-minute period fired more than 2,800 rounds of ammunition.

The squadron stayed in constant action from the end of August, 1951, to the end of January without any special maintenance for the 20 tanks in the outfit.

The squadron now is commanded by Maj. V. W. Jewkes, M.C., of St. Johns, Que.

ONLY SKELETON

DOUBLOONS STAY BEHIND IN CANADA

MARSHFIELD, Mass., June 30 (AP)—Edward Rowe Snow, who found treasure and a skeleton on a Canadian island last week, is home today—with only a few pieces of skeleton for his pains.

The treasure—eight Spanish doubloons—is in a Canadian bank, impounded by the Canadian government.

"It's the law," said Snow, who found the treasure on tiny Isle Haut in the Bay of Fundy by following an old chart.

"Under the Canadian export laws," he explained, "American citizens cannot take gold out of Canada. The only way I can get it home is through an American bank, that is, by having the bank apply for me."

Some of the pieces in the treasure, Snow added, are very valuable.

Canadian authorities made sure Snow did not get away with any undeclared treasure.

"The lighthouse keeper watched me while I dug and when I left he turned the job over to the mounties," he said. "They turned me over to customs officers who in turn gave the job to provincial officials."

The officials wired the department of finance who telegraphed Snow to remind him of the export laws.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The subject of the sermon at one of the Victoria churches yesterday was advertised as "Every Single Man Shall Go to Heaven."

Which doesn't leave much hope for us married fellows.

They are still fussing at CKDA about what to call the men who play the records. Well, I know the name for the man who has to listen. It's a discusser.

Chris Blou, editor of the Victoria Aquarium Society bulletin, has a post-election note that is particularly pertinent as the counting teams start to find out who's elected.

Chris reports that Allan Pratt, a member of the society, was attempting to explain alternative voting to a U.S. visitor. "It's like this," said Mr. Pratt. "You vote 1, 2, 3 for Johnson, and if he doesn't get enough 1's, then the 2's count for Anson."

"Then the 3's and 4's are counted, and 3 and 4 make 7, and 7 is a lucky number, so Mr. Truman is elected."

It is reported that the young son of my neighbor, Ford Bond, has been studying the monetary system at school.

At one stage in the explanation, the teacher held up a 50-cent piece, dropped it on her desk so the students could hear it clank, and asked "anybody know what it is?"

"Heads," said young Bond.

Al Collins, the CIVI man, is going around asking all his gardening friends what he can grow in clay, a thick deposit of which surrounds his home.

The best suggestion yet is that he put in a pottery instead of a rockery.

Our Very Own Personal Column: Handsome young English Bulldog, five, of good family, well educated, gentlemanly, with pleasant disposition, wishes to meet congenial member of opposite sex (also bulldog) for companionship and exchange of views on how the world is going to the dogs. Object, matrimony, if mutually agreeable. Arrangements should be made with my boss, P.O. Jim Brahan, Telephone G4101, Local 6, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A young gentleman of our acquaintance—he is eight years old—attends University School for Boys.

The other day, he came home with a question. He was anxious to know if any relative of his had previously attended the school.

His mother said no, she didn't think so, and why? He said there was a scroll at the school, and on it was someone with the same name as his.

"I wondered if it was one of my ancestors," he said. "But," he added, "I guess it would have to be an ancestor, not an ancestor, because girls don't go to University School."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Theft of five car wheels and tires was reported to city police Sunday by two car lot operators.

Ken Mitchell of K. and M. Auto Sales, 1401 Yates, said three hub caps, four wheels and—tires were stolen from the Capitol Auto Sales at 2416 Douglas.

C. P. Noble, 1219 North Park, told police $40 was taken from his wallet during a party at his home Saturday night.

Early Sunday, E. G. Barley, of 1010 Queens, scared off a prowler when he arrived home. He saw the man run out of the building as he entered.

Ralph Coles of New Westminster, was elected president of the B.C. Old Age Pensioners Organization at the final convention session Saturday. He succeeds Thomas Field of North Burnaby. Members of the executive include W. R. Hunter of Victoria.

Girls aged over 19 but not over 25 years are being sought to fill a limited number of vacancies in the women's section (Wrens) of Victoria's H.M.C.S. Malahat, naval reserve division.

Although the division has ceased training for the summer, the 516 Government Street offices will remain open to recruiting. The offices are accepting recruits for both the reserve and permanent branches of the navy.

William C. Brown, 80, pioneer B.C. barrister, died Sunday at Campbell River.

He retired in 1948, moving with his family to Campbell River after 56 years in Vancouver.

Dr. David B. Turner, director of conservation in the provincial lands and forests department, has been elected a national director of the Agriculture Institute of Canada.

Dr. Turner, who has just returned from the Ottawa meeting of the institute, will represent British Columbia, succeeding Dr. J. C. Wilcox of Summerland.

'I AM A CANADIAN'

(Continued from Page 1) "For we have learned," he said, "... that the greatness of a nation is not known by its fields, its factories or its forests, but by the character of its people."

A short play, "Canoe Route," concerning the discovery of the Fraser River, written by Ellen Hart, was presented by St. Luke's Players, assisted by a St. Andrew's Cathedral quartet. The appropriate, well-planned sketch was directed by Mrs. Flora Nicholson and the players were Charles Gibson, Henry Maunsell, Harry Gibb, Maurice Corbett, Alec Hutchins, Hudson Jones, G. M. Owan, Dick Pugh, Walter Cownden, Victor Morris, Dan Christian and Donald Mulhahy.

The costumes and make-up were outstandingly good. Some of the figures appeared to have stepped out of early paintings of the Voyageurs.

Costuming was done by the studio of Dorothy Whyte and Dolly Jones.

Among those attending was Mrs. J. O. Cameron, who presented the pavilion to the city several years ago, in memory of her husband. Petite Dr. Paulina Parizeau, who became a full-fledged citizen just three days ago, was a special guest. Another three-day citizen was Mr. L. Kaj Nielsen, with his Canadian wife and daughter.

In national costume was Rev. Dr. Frank Hoffmann of Hungary; also a group of Norwegians. Mungo Martin, famous Indian carver of Totem poles, was present with his great-grandson, Tony. Another B.C. Indian couple were Mr. and Mrs. Austin Albany, and there were several Chinese Canadians present.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Navy Band, under Lt. Cmdr. H. G. Cuthbert, presented a concert on the Canadian theme. Commentary was provided by Lt. Al Collins.

"I Am a Canadian" Day was organized by the Greater Victoria Canadian Council and sponsors were the Local Council of Women, Women's Canadian Club, Men's Canadian Club, Canadian Daughters' League and the Native Sons of Canada.

Highlight of Canadian History Portrayed in Sunday Ceremonies

Simon Fraser, redoubtable explorer, impersonated by Charles Gibson, lived again Sunday to re-enact a scene of significance when he bulled his voyageurs into continuing their bitter voyage of discovery along the north-west's "Canoe Route." The episode was staged as part of the ceremonies at Beacon Hill Park's Cameron

WEEK OF DECISION

Added Election Confusion Hint

By GORDON FORBES

This is the week of decision in British Columbia's drawn-out election race. Early Thursday morning returning officers throughout the province will gather with their vote-counting teams and head straight into the complicated task of counting second and subsequent choices cast in the June 12 election. Final first-count results were completed only last week—two weeks after election day—so the results of the remaining counts may be a long time in coming. Some observers are predicting even worse confusion during this phase of the counting than experienced in the first count. But election officials are confident the counting will be smoother because all returning officers have been training their counters since election day. When the counting resumes, all the candidates who polled the least number of votes will be dropped from the contest. Their ballots are there distributed among the remaining candidates according to second choice markings of their supporters. Scheduled to be dropped from the contest under the alternative voting system are 23 Progressive Conservatives, 13 Social Crediters, seven Christian Democrats, six C.C.F., six Independents, four L.P.P., three Liberals, one Social list and one Labor Representative. Only one C.C.F. and three Social Credit were given a clear majority and elected on the first count. They were C.C.F. leader Harold Winch, Vancouver East, and Social Crediters W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan; Ken Kiernan, Chilliwack, and Ralph Chetwynd, Cariboo.

But even when all the ballots are counted, the political picture probably still will be clouded. The candidates will know their individual fates, but whether any party will be able to form a government with a working majority appears doubtful.

About the best bet is the likelihood that one out of the three leading parties will be able to elect only enough candidates to form a minority government.

In this event, there is a chance the Legislature will be called into session before fall, and, if the minority government can weather the storm, another election may not come until next year.

Chances of a Coalition are considered slim, since the Liberals and Conservatives recently broke up their 11-year marriage and the P.C.'s are considered too far behind in the election race to give the Liberals much support.

Both the C.C.F. and Social Credit parties declared earlier they would not consider coalition.

City Soldier Ends in Jail After Hold-Up

A 24-year-old soldier from York Point Barracks and five youths are in jail at Nanaimo as the result of three armed robberies up-island during the week-end.

Remanded in police court to July 3 without plea was soldier John Parisien, arrested by R.C.M.P. at noon Saturday as the result of two armed robberies early Saturday in Nanaimo.

He is alleged to have slugged and robbed Oscar Matson in his Newcastle Hotel room and taken Matson's clothing and some money.

Police say Parisien then forced a party of young people at gunpoint to drive him around, and then entered the Nanaimo Motors, where he took $1 from attendant E. A. Clark.

He was arrested at an auto court at Qualicum by two R.C.M.P. officers.

Parisien had been drinking heavily at the time, said R.C.M.P. BEATEN, ROBBED

The five youths—two on leave from the R.C.A.F.—were arrested by police as the result of beating and robbing Alec Baird in his cabin at Parksville Saturday night.

They stole $1,860 Baird had in his possession.

Police picked up two of the youths carrying $700 as they were about to board the ferry to Vancouver.

R.C.M.P. officers then went to Parksville, where they arrested the three other youths and found $740 buried in the sand. The balance of the money was found in a nearby cabin.

Police said the five appeared in court this morning at Nanaimo and were remanded.

LOGGER LISTS COMPLAINTS TO MAGISTRATE

A 38-year-old logger told Magistrate H. C. Hall in police court today he "wasn't allowed the use of a phone or allowed a visitor" while he was awaiting trial on a theft charge.

Maurice Fraser, Sherwood Hotel, was sentenced to a 15-day jail term after his conviction on a charge of theft of a carpenter's plane.

Fraser had told the court earlier he had received the plane from a man, whose name he did not know, in exchange for a pint of whisky.

The magistrate, before passing sentence, told Fraser that "there was no evidence to show that you had made an effort to locate this man."

He asked Fraser if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

Replying to the magistrate's query about the man he mentioned, Fraser said "I wasn't allowed the use of a phone or allowed a visitor in all the time I've been here" (in jail).

Equipment from Sanich fire department's Shelbourne Street station put out two bush fires Sunday—one at Cadboro Bay Road and Penrhyn and the other on Torquay Drive.

Last minute instructions, flashing cameras, excitement, confusion and a few tears created a never-to-be-forgotten scene as members of the Elgar Choir said "farewell" to relatives and friends at the Vancouver C.N.R. terminal.

The night was important to us for it marked the beginning of an extensive three-month tour of Britain and eastern Canada, under the guidance of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Findlater.

The C.N.R. assigned us a private coach which, although quite spacious during the major part of the journey, seemed inadequate as 29 eager choristers attempted to bed down for the first night.

We have no porter. All cooking, bed-making and cleaning is done by ourselves, and we enjoy doing it, because it's like being a part of a large, happy family.

There is no time to become travel-weary aboard the Elgar Coach, for we spend many hours practising for our first "tour" performances—a sacred recital at Ottawa's First United Church, and a secular recital at Westborough United Church, also in Ottawa.

We gave two performances at St. Andrew's-Wesley Church before leaving Vancouver. One of these was our "farewell" concert held in the church hall. The other was at the regular Sunday evening service. As soon as the service was over, we dashed over to C.B.U. in order to practice for the western regional broadcast which we gave at 10:30 that night.

The members of the choir hall from all corners of the province, and although we have practiced individually, we have not had the opportunity to work together and acquire that unity and teamwork, which is of such supreme importance to good choral singing. However, realizing that we had just two days in which to prepare for the broadcast, we worked to the best of our ability, and afterwards Mr. Findlater said that he was proud of us—a reward well worth the effort.

After the accident, one of the brothers went to phone police and another fight took place on the porch of a house.

When the pair were put in the police car, one of the brothers started to struggle with police officer Larry Thompson and put his foot on the police car accelerator.

O'Hendley's brother was fined $10 for being drunk in a public place.

Damage was described as medium in four other accidents.

Miss L. Newham and Mrs. B. Thirwell combined to win the two-ball foursomes for the Wengler Basket, at Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday, with a net 81.

Sanich police said O'Hendley was charged as the result of a fight with his brother which

Food Products Prices Decline

Closing Foreign Markets Increase Canadian Stocks; Index Shows Drop

Sky-high food prices, biggest item in the family budget, are at last beginning to weaken.

Slight declines in wholesale charges on a wide range of food products over recent months are today reflected at retail counters here.

The federal cost-of-living index, including key-food items in everyday use, has dropped slightly each month since March, and food prices have accounted for part of the general decline since April.

A comparison of some current prices at the retail level with those of a year ago shows:

	1951	Today
Rump roast	92c	69c
Domestic shortening	37	25
Pork liver	38	13
Butter	69	64
Eggs, large	78	56
Cottage rolls	77	55
Lard	29	14
Hamburger	75	55
Margarine	43	36

Leading wholesalers in Victoria today confirmed the trend towards lower prices.

FIVE TIMES CUT

W. H. Malkin & Company's offices here report that sugar, which enters into the end cost of a long list of processed foods, has been cut five times in price so far this year. Officials also listed declines in fats, biscuits, flour and fruits.

Main reason for the prospect of lower food bills, in the opinion of packers and distributors here, is that bigger supplies are coming on to the Canadian market.

Officials in the food trade here point out that Canadian food producers this year are barred from many of their best outside markets. Britain, Australia and New Zealand all have cut down on imports from Canada and the United States. As a result, there are larger supplies available for Canada's home market.

In addition to lower sales overseas this year, Canadian food producers are faced with a ban on sales of dairy products and meat in the United States. The outbreak of hoof and mouth disease in Canada this spring caused the U.S. government to stop all imports of Canadian meat and the ban on imports of dairy products from Canada arose out of the desire of Americans to protect their own farmers from foreign competition.

Dealers in the food processing and distributing field here agree that a further softening of price tags is likely in the grocery stores. They point out, however, that all other costs of doing business are still rising.

Food packing plants pay higher prices for cans, labor, freight and other operating services. The gain in some of the price benefits which larger supply brings, dealers claim.

The short-term outlook seems to be for further easing of food prices but no drastic drops, and perhaps scattered increases in some lines.

SHIP'S OFFICER DIES IN BERTH

The 41-year-old second engineer of the tanker New Market was found dead in his berth at 8 a.m. Sunday, as the ship cleared Race Rocks and put in toward William Head Quarantine station.

Death of Virgil McNeil was believed due to natural causes. The tanker proceeded to Vancouver, where the coroner was notified this morning.

$750,000 Campaign Launched

A campaign to raise $750,000 has been launched by the building extension committee of Christ Church Cathedral.

It is the committee's hope that the sum will be sufficient to undertake the proposed eastern extension to the present structure and complete the twin towers on the front of the building.

A pamphlet outlining the building program was distributed to members of the cathedral congregation Sunday.

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton called for support to the project from all church members and friends. He said the project would require a great and united effort.

The eastern extension will provide for choir space and sanctuary in the same style as called for by the late James C. M. Keith, original architect of the cathedral.

The choir stalls will provide space for a full choir of 70 persons. Space will be left for a new organ on the north side of the chamber.

The bishop's throne, recently presented to the Victoria cathedral from St. Paul's Cathedral, London, will stand on the south side, while to the east will be placed the sanctuary, with four steps leading up to the high altar, behind which it is hoped ultimately will be erected a fine stone reredos.

South of the choir will be the chief chapel, to be built as a memorial to King George VI. This will seat about 100 persons in a small nave.

The great east window will be of stained glass.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Here's Another Work-Saver Gadget for You!

By PENNY SAVER

Oh, Ma, you'll be happy as a little clam with this gadget! You, and only you, knows what it is like to have to try and wash dirty towels. Especially the one that is so convenient in the kitchen.

The whole family probably gives it a real beating by drying half-washed hands on it.

How about a neat little paper towel holder of colored plastic that will grip a roll of hand-paper for everyone's use.

The holder is only 35 pennies, is durable, economical, extremely convenient and above all—easy to install.

The spring action brackets fit securely on the wall and as it suggests, springs apart for removing and replacing rolls.

Let it be welcomed by the whole family!

It was bound to happen sooner or later.

Yes, the manufacturers would never be content until they introduced a plastic bottle cap. Everything else in that line is plastic, so why not a bottle cap!

You can buy them now at three for 35 pennies. They snap on the top of the bottle and seal in all the original sparkle.

It will not pop off, and is, of course, non-breakable. The cap fits all standard bottles and simply clamps on with a press of the palm.

Let's see now, what else might be a bit enlightening for a Monday?

How about a jelly strainer? The preserving season is getting so close, that you simply can't avoid facing the fact that you've got the task before you of preserving fruit, and making jam and jelly.

The jelly strainer looked wonderful to me. So many times I've seen the home-made model that collapses when the job is half done.

However, this little number was styled with a strong cotton bag securely framed in a rustproof metal rack.

For 79 pennies you simply couldn't go wrong.

Newlyweds to Travel To Regina and Banff

Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Schneider are en route to Regina and Banff, where they will spend their honeymoon following their marriage Saturday evening in St. Luke's Church.

Rev. F. Pike officiated for the former Marilyn Ruth Grimshaw, daughter of R.C.M.P. Sgt. and Mrs. F. E. Grimshaw, Connoton Lane, and the son of Mrs. E. Schneider, Regina, and late Mr. Schneider.

Tall baskets of delphiniums, white ester reeds and mock orange blossoms decorated the church.

E. V. Edwards was organist and during the signing of the register Paula Renning sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a strapless gown of white Chantilly lace over satin with long-sleeved lace jacket. A full net skirt in train was misted with a floor-length veil of illusion net which was held in a halo of seed pearls. Her cascade bouquet was rapture roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Nancy Jones, maid of honor, was gown in pale blue lace over taffeta with matching jacket. She carried a crescent bouquet of shaded pink gladioli. Junior bridesmaids, Judy Grimshaw, sister of the bride, and Susan Dillabough, cousin of the bride, were gown in pink taffeta with full net overskirts. Both wore hairbands of fresh flowers and carried baskets of delphiniums and pink sweetpeas.

Little flower girl, Joanne Anderson, wore a frock of blue organdie over taffeta and carried a basket of pink sweetpeas.

Ronald Robb was best man and ushers were W. F. Grimshaw and R. C. Grimshaw, twin brothers of the bride.

At the reception in the Business and Professional Women's Club, the bride's table was centred with a three-tier cake and decorated with candlesticks and silver bowls of pale pink roses. A. R. Wakeham proposed the toast.

For travelling the bride wore a dress of pure white silk dotted with blue coin spots and topped with a blue wool coat styled with full back and raglan sleeves.

Her accessories were beige linen and her corsage rapture rosebuds.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Rained out! The w... had a keenly disappointing sound to the sell-out house waiting... Saturday night in Vancouver, for final performance of "Timber!!!" first all-Canadian musical operetta to be produced by Theatre Under the Stars.

The night before, a performance went on in the rain which started in the late afternoon. And more than 700 enthusiasts (it had been another sell-out house) sat under butcher paper tents to see the show.

But Saturday it rained all day. And even with the weatherman saying it would clear in the evening, it was decided the ground was too muddy and the seats too wet.

So, along with 5,000 others, I missed seeing the colorful musical in its stage setting and hearing the lilting lyrics ring out in Stanley Park.

On Sunday, however, I did sit in on a rehearsal of "Timber!!!" as it will be heard over the air Wednesday evening. On C.B.C.'s Trans-Canada network at 8.30 p.m. (P.D.T.).

And I'm here to tell you that when you tune your radio in to the program you're going to discover the show is good! Music, lyrics and dialogue!

It has catchy tunes, subtle humor, and a bit of slapstick comedy. The songs are tuneful and in the case of "High, Wide and Handsome," the boisterous "High Rigger Song" and the love song "Sunday Heart," you're going to be humming and whistling them for many days after you hear them sung.

Youth Loves Colorful Songs

The cast is young and enthusiastic. They tell you that "Timber!!!" is "terrific!" And they would have liked to have gone on singing, dancing and acting in it for another fortnight.

They must be enthusiastic for they gathered for rehearsal on Sunday at 2 o'clock and they were going strong, with 10-minute breaks for a rest every two hours (sandwiches and coffee when they could get it) until 11.30 p.m.

In the control room sweating it out with them (and I literally mean sweating it out for it was as hot as the inside of an oven in the 10-by-8 glassed-in room with its one pint-sized window) were Dolores Claman, who wrote the music for the show, Dave Savage and Doug Nixon who wrote the words and the lyrics.

Chris Nixon and Jacqueline Savage were there. They have given their husbands enthusiastic support since the first words and music for the songs were written and could, no doubt, repeat the whole show backwards if they were asked.

There was Don Horne, too, operating the control dials and Latzie McCullough, production secretary, both former Victorians. Doug Nixon, production manager for the radio presentation, with Dolores and Dave, had cut and shaped the show to fit air time. And from 2 until 6 on Sunday they were briefing the cast on the various changes. Trying out bits of dialogue. Going over song routines. Over and over! Back and forth! Stop and start!

At 6 p.m. the orchestra arrived. Veteran Harry Pryce was conducting and I spotted Clifford Evans, concert master of Victoria's symphony orchestra, among the first violins.

Next three hours were taken up in synchronizing voice of the cast with the orchestra. And again it was stop and start, as Doug Nixon kept saying quietly over the loud speaker from the control room, "we'll do it again."

Ready To Go on the Air

Finally at 9 p.m. they were ready for the final rehearsal. Orchestra and cast. Rights through from beginning to end. No stops.

Frank, the sound man took his place. Harry Pryce stood up on the podium. The clock ticked off the seconds. It was very still in the control room.

Suddenly the sound of a great tree falling came clearly to the listeners. Then the ringing cry "Timber!!!" and the show was on its way.

Young Don Girard sang and swaggered his way as Dan, the high-rigger; Jacqueline Smith was a winsome Margery, daughter of timber baron A. B. Manson, played by Frank Wade. Barney Potts as the whistle pun: Dusty; and Lorraine McAllister as Rose, the cigarette girl, carried the comedy and sang several clever patter songs. Thora Anders, a former Victorian as Lil, the hat check girl thrived on the bluesy "High, Wide and Handsome." Len Hayman was convincing in the real-life character part of Leo Sweeney, Vancouver's tourist campaign manager.

Jack McDonald, also a Victorian, sang and talked as the logger friend of Dan.

At 11 o'clock, there were still a few kinks to be ironed out. And no one wanted to stop until that had been done.

When I left for the boat—it was still raining—but in the studio a clever group of young people (including the three writers of the show) were making the stars shine with their enthusiasm and their pep.

They deserve a big hand! So, tune in on your radio next Wednesday night at 8.30. Listen to this first all-Canadian musical operetta to be produced professionally by TUTS.

Write to Dolores Claman, Dave Savage and Doug Nixon through C.B.C. in Vancouver if you like it—and I think you will. Give them the cast and the cast your support.

After all—it's a British Columbia effort. And you should be proud of it!

Remember, however, as you listen, this is a condensed version of the operetta. There are dances and costumes you won't see, songs and dialogue you won't hear. So, if it's ever repeated on the stage again—try and be there!

Demonstrations of weaving and spinning will be given each day, afternoon and evening.

Baskets of delphiniums and snapdragons in standard baskets created the summer floral setting for the wedding ceremony Saturday evening which united Jean Barbara Hughes and Brian Hugh Palin.

Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn officiated at the ceremony in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hughes, Byron Street, and the son of Mr. H. Palin, Mount Douglas Cross Roads, and late Mrs. Palin.

Traditional wedding music was played as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father.

The petite bride wore a strapless ballerina-length gown of white corded taffeta with over-skirt of net. Her gown was complemented with a short cut-away jacket featuring a stand-up collar and tight elbow-length sleeves. A chapel veil was caught at the sides of a small Juliet cap with dainty white flowers and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis centred with an orchid. Her only jewelry was an amethyst and pearl pendant, belonging to her late grandmother.

Miss Lorna Horwood, maid of honor, Miss Louise Young and Miss Leona Hulme, bridesmaids, were dressed similarly in lavender.

Winnipeg Pair Dead In Stabbing, Shooting

WINNIPEG, June 30 (CP).—A 30-year-old Winnipeg mother was fatally stabbed Saturday and her husband died several hours later from a bullet wound in his head.

Mrs. Ruth Schmutz was found dead in the hallway of the couple's downtown rooming house.

Her husband, Louis, 38, was found lying in the basement, a .38 calibre automatic pistol beside him.

Police said the couple's six-year-old daughter, Caroline, may have been the only witness to what is believed a murder-suicide of her parents.

Detective Inspector George Blow said the dead woman was stabbed seven times. A trail of blood led from the hallway where she was found in a front bedroom in the house. Police took possession of a hunting knife believed to be the murder weapon.

Schmutz died in hospital. Medical authorities said he never regained consciousness.

Pilot Lands Safely

EDMONTON, June 30 (CP).—A Saskatoon pilot overdue on a flight to Calgary was reported by the air force Sunday to have landed safely 30 miles west of the southern Alberta city.

The pilot, unidentified, left Saskatoon shortly after 10 a.m. on the three-hour flight. The R.C.A.F. made a communications check when he was 2½ hours overdue and was about to send out an aircraft when word was received that the missing Cornell plane had landed.

Crash Injures 11

BRANDON, Man., June 30 (CP).—Eleven persons were injured near here Sunday in a two-car collision. None of the injuries were considered severe.

John Allan Goodwill, 21-year-old soldier from nearby Camp Shilo, suffered concussion, a fractured right leg and lacerations. He also was believed to have suffered amnesia.

He first told police he was accompanied by another soldier but police said his condition cast doubts as to the presence of the second man.

Most severely injured was Mrs. David Portugal, 50, of Winnipeg, who received a badly lacerated tongue and shock. She was reported in fair condition in hospital here.

Edmonton Drowning

CALGARY, June 30 (CP).—A young Edmonton man is dead and a High River, Alta., truck driver is in hospital with a broken neck as the result of two week-end accidents in Central and Southern Alberta.

Dead is William Schersberg, Edmonton, who drowned in Sylvan Lake, Sunday.

Schersberg was playing ball in shallow water when he apparently went in out of his depth. It is believed he was a non-swimmer.

Companions had pulled the body out within three minutes and immediately applied artificial respiration but Schersberg, about 25, failed to respond.

In a Calgary hospital is Leslie Blevins, High River, who suffered a broken neck when his two-ton truck sideswiped a Greyhound bus several miles south of Calgary, 50 miles south of Calgary.

Redistribution Delaying House Adjournment

OTTAWA, June 30 (CP).—The Commons today tackled the details of the bill redistributing federal constituencies. The debate is expected to delay adjournment of the present Parliament session until Wednesday at least.

The Commons Saturday voted 88 to 37 against a Progressive Conservative motion asking for an independent commission to do the redistribution work now done by a parliamentary committee.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the commission would take politics out of changes in electoral constituencies.

His motion was supported by Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. members, together with J. L. Gibson (Ind.-Comox-Alberni). Liberal and Social Credit members voted against the motion.

The Commons then gave the bill second reading and sent it to the committee on redistribution, which added a schedule outlining the boundaries of the 265 ridings—an increase over the present 262.

The redistribution stems from the 1951 census. Once approved, the changes will take effect with the next federal election.

Mr. Drew said that under the present system of parliamentary committee, with a majority of government members, decides on constituency boundaries after each decennial census.

Neither the Conservatives or Liberals could claim "any particular virtue" in the way in which redistribution had been handled in the past. The present committee could and did use its powers to liquidate political opponents by gerrymandering boundary lines.

He suggested an impartial commission be established to report to parliament when it meets Nov. 20 for a new session.

No cabinet minister spoke on Mr. Drew's proposal although several members spoke against it.

Jean Francois Pouliot (L. Temiscouata) said he has been a "politician for 25 years" and has no complaints against the present system. George Murray (L. Cariboo) said the committee has been fair.

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre) said a parliamentary committee had personal interests in the job, and altered representation "according to whims and compromises."

Robert Fair (S.C., Battle River) said the committee could do a good job if politics were left out.

More than 85% of the goods we sell we buy in Canada.

From time to time in the past we have drawn our customers' attention to the very large proportion of Canadian merchandise we sell at Eaton's. Every year our shopping bag is filled with more and more Canadian goods... and today we can state that more than 85% of the goods we sell are bought from Canadian suppliers! Although we constantly import the specialties of other countries and our buyers shop all the markets of the world in their search for new and interesting products, nevertheless the percentage of Canadian-bought merchandise sold in Eaton stores is tremendous!

Here's convincing evidence of the faith that Eaton's (and the people who shop at Eaton's) have in the products of Canadian mills and factories... in the resources and resourcefulness of Canadian suppliers.

As we celebrate our country's eighty-fifth birthday, we can take pride in the way Canada has grown. It's satisfying to realize that Canadian products are known and respected wherever they are sold—at home and abroad. It's satisfying, too, to know that the wholehearted support of Canadian industry by the shoppers of Canada enables Canadian manufacturers and craftsmen to produce fine products for all the shoppers of the world!

Painters Take Strike Action

Latest Walkout Adds 200 to Unemployed
List; No Break in Woodworkers' Walkout

Victoria painters went on strike today. At a meeting Sunday of the general membership of the Painters Union (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) it was decided to tie up the trade here through strike action.

About 200 men are affected by the walkout.

A few painters are still working for contractors who signed up with the union, according to Don Bushell, painters' business agent.

The 13-day strike of Victoria carpenters threw a good many of the city's painters out of work, but most of the 80 still working on Friday are now helping man picket lines.

In this move the painters followed the example of 900 Vancouver painters, who have been out on strike for two weeks.

The strike followed months of negotiation between painters and Victoria Builders' Exchange and independent contractors.

2,300 UNEMPLOYED

The new strike brings the total of city workers actively on strike to 2,200, including 1,500 loggers and millworkers of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and 500 carpenters.

Many other building tradesmen also are jobless because of picket lines operated by striking unions.

No break appeared during the week-end in strikes which have tied up lumbering and construction in west coast area.

Striking woodworkers tightened patrols on docks at New Westminster where it was reported "hot" lumber was being loaded. The picketers will prevent the loading of any lumber aboard ships which were not on barges alongside the ships when the strike broke out.

International Woodworkers of America leaders said that New Westminster longshoremen had agreed not to unload any lumber from additional barges brought in.

I.W.A. headquarters here announced that the union had removed pickets at three box factories on the mainland to permit production of boxes for the 1952 berry crop. Union officials understood work started this morning.

Wins Honor From Fellow Citizens

Good Citizen's Award
Canada Day Highlight

Selection of Miss Sara Spencer, welcomed the guests and the large audience.

"No man can be whole, a citizen of the world, until he has first realized and cherished the personal loyalties of home, of family, of community and of country," said Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, the principal speaker, asking that all should pause to consider "the inner well-springs of affection" that unite them to this richly endowed and lovely land of Canada.

Mr. Keate briefly discussed Confederation, the growth of the country, its position in the world of today, its inheritance from the past.

He referred to this country's absorption of new Canadians and the mutual gifts of freedom on the one hand, and heritage of historic cultures on the other.

Miss Spencer, brought to the platform by Robert Hiscocks, responded to the award with characteristic simplicity, commenting:

"After such an eulogy, I will have to look around on Monday morning and find more things to do."

The ceremonies began as the chairman, Alderman F. G. Mulliner, speakers and special guests moved on to the platform, led by a group of L.O.D.E. standard bearers, to the strains of "Land of Hope and Glory," played by the band of H.M.C.S. Naden.

The Reverend Douglas Kendall, chaplain of the Veterans' Hospital, pronounced the benediction. Dr. W. G. Black, regional liaison officer, department of immigration, presented a message from the Hon. W. E. Harris, and Alderman Mulliner to $8.

Sunny and Warmer
Says Weatherman

Record holiday activity, with hundreds of tourists flowing in to help celebrate Canada's 85th birthday, is expected on Vancouver Island.

Everyone is co-operating, from sport promoters who have lined up a spectacular calendar of events, to the weatherman—who cautiously predicts "mostly sunny" with a top temperature of 68.

He said Tuesday will be a little warmer than recent days. The official forecast: "Sunny and warmer."

VARIED PROGRAM

Victorians will have a varied program of events from which to choose their holiday recreation.

Baseball fans will be at Royal Athletic Park hoping to see the Victoria Tyees pull out of their slump. Game times for a double-header are 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m., and Wenatchee Chiefs provide the opposition.

Cricket fans will crowd around the Beacon Hill Park oval where Victoria All-Stars and Vancouver clash at 10:30 a.m.

The Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association-sponsored speedboat races in Esquimalt Lagoon are expected to attract a large holiday crowd.

Races will be run between 1 and 5 p.m. with more than 40 speedsters participating. An excellent view will be available for all spectators because the races will be only 100 feet offshore.

At Beacon Hill Park, the Edmonton School Band will play under Bandmaster T. M. Newlove, at 8 p.m., in the bandstand shell.

Up-island, Duncan plans a gala day with loggers' sports, horse racing, baseball and dances.

Nine contestants are in the Queen contest, winner of which will go to the Pacific National Exhibition in August.

Ladysmith and Courtenay also have celebrations planned. Greater Victoria police chiefs have asked motorists to drive sensibly, pointing out that "alcohol and gasoline don't mix."

The National Safety Council frankly admits it hopes its estimates of traffic fatalities is all wrong.

"Make our estimates of traffic deaths look silly," is the council's attitude.

All stores and places of business will be closed Tuesday, and there will be no mail deliveries.

NO TIMES
TOMORROW

Dominion Day will be observed as a holiday by members of The Times staff and there will be no regular editions of the paper tomorrow. Next publication will be on Wednesday.

HOLIDAY DEATHS ALREADY HIT 42; TWO DIE IN B.C.

By The Canadian Press
Twenty-three persons died in highway accidents during the first 48 hours of Canada's four-day holiday week-end to bring the total number of fatalities to 42.

A Canadian Press survey, however, showed today that 17 died in Ontario, nine in Quebec, seven in Manitoba, six in New Brunswick, two in Alberta and two in British Columbia.

The mounting toll on the highways compared with the 28 killed in the 72-hour Dominion Day holiday last year. In that period a total of 84 died violently across the country.
